Title of the Poem:

Capt. Vikram Batra: The Lion of Kargil.

In the hills of Himachal, where the dawn break free,
A hero was born, destined to be.

Vikram Batra, with spirit so bright,
Stood for his country, a beacon of light.

From Palampur's valleys, with dreams in his eyes,
He soared through his studies, reaching for the skies.
With a heart full of courage, he chose to defend,
A soldier's calling, on which he would depend.

At the NDA's gate, he honed his skill,
With grit and determination, he climbed every hill.
In the Indian Military Academy, he found his place,
A leader emerging, full of valour and grace.

Then came the call of Kargil, a test profound,
In a war-torn land, where hope seemed dimmed.
With grit unmatched, in the face of the foe,
Captain Batra rallied, his spirit aglow.

'Sher Shah', they called him, the Lion of the Valley,
Leading his troops through the fierce and the valiant.
In the battle for Point 5140, he took the stand,
Against all odds, he fought for his land.

With bullets flying and danger so near,
He charged with his men, casting aside fear.
'Yeh dil mange more' - his rallying cry,
A testament to courage that reached for the sky.

But fate can be cruel, and on that fateful day,
He laid down his life, in a noble display.
To save a comrade, he ran without delay,
With valour unmatched, he showed the way.

Posthumous honour, the Param Vir Chakra bestowed,
For a life dedicated to the path he chose.
His legacy lives on, in the hearts of the brave,
A reminder of courage, of those who gave.

Let us honour his spirit, in all that we do,
Embodying the values he held so true.
In times of hardships, when shadows loom tall,
We remember Vikram, who answered the call.

So here's to our hero, whose tale we retell,
A soldier, a leader, who fought and fell.
May his legacy inspire, through challenges vast,
As we carry his spirit, through future untold.

In unity and strength, let us always stand,
Upholding his memory, hand in hand.
For Captain Vikram Batra our guiding light,
Shall forever inspire, in day and in night.
